LOCAL JOTTINGS

Mr and Mrs C. L. Dodge were visitors to Calgary on Saturday.

Miss Nora Piercy has accepted a position at the local irrigation office, as telephone operator.

A Hard Times and April Fool Dance is to be given in the Opera House on Friday March 31st.

Mrs Isabel Ball, returned on Sunday afternoon, after spending a very pleasant three months visit to the States visiting friends and relatives.

We understand that Mr John North has rented from Mr Sweetfeger, formerly of Strathmore, but now of Schottos, Mo., his farm which adjoins the farm of Mr. John North.

Mr. J. M. Brasley and Mr. P. J. Morton, both of Saskatoon, spent a few days in Strathmore this week, trying to put new life into the Alberta Retail Merchants Association.

We are offering a section of land within two miles of Strathmore, partly improved, for $15.50 per acre, on terms. Come quickly—See McElhines.

A District Court will be held in Strathmore on Monday April 10th, at which a local case will be heard and decided upon by a district judge from Calgary.

A fairly good show was put on at the Opera House on Saturday evening by the Kingston Performers. The house accorded was not up to the usual standard for Strathmore, probably the only night and lack of advertising had an adverse influence. However those who were present enjoyed themselves. A social dance was held at the close of the performance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Buchanan, of Calgary, have taken up their residence in Strathmore. They are now occupying the Hinchliff Nursing Home. Mr. Buchanan is an engineer and is being employed on the engineering outfit of Schultz Bros. for the season. Mrs. Buchanan is also an accredited nurse.

The Editor was a visitor to Bassano on Saturday last and through the kindness of Mr. Don H. Bark, was conveyed in an auto to the dam site where the C.P.R. $5,000,000.00 structure was viewed and its various advantages explained. It is certainly a wonderful engineering feat and is worth one's while to visit. Needless to state a very pleasant time was had.

Mrs. King and Miss Sigurdson spent the weekend in Calgary.

Scandinavian services in the Harvey schoolhouse on Sunday April 2nd, at 12.00 noon.

Mr. Lester Wiggegar, the Strathmore beam brewer, spent the weekend in Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McNeill, spent the weekend at High River where they visited friends and relatives.

Miss Robinson, of the Strathmore Trading Co's staff, autored to Calgary on Saturday and is expected back on Thursday.

Lecture by Dr. Givins at Regular I.O.O.F. meeting on Thursday Mar. 30th. All members requested to be present.

The Rev. W. J. Haghighi, of Calgary, district superintendent, was a visitor to Strathmore on Tuesday and went out on the Tudor mission.

On Saturday, the local branch of the Women's Institute will serve lunch in the Duff Block, on the cafeteria plan. As this is a close proximity to the sale yards there is no reason why they should not be heartily supported.

Another Strathmore man enlisted for active service on Monday. Mr. Albert Sykes, who for the past two years has been employed on Mr. Bolton's farm has joined the 137th Batt. Mrs. Sykes will reside in Calgary until after the war.

Mr. Earl Beck, of Twin Falls, Idaho, arrived in town this week and has accepted the position as Assistant Irrigation Investigator. He will work in conjunction with Mr. Bark. They are old school mates and have both been identified with government irrigation work across the line.

A popular guest in Indianopolis for some time has been Mrs Isabel Ball, of Strathmore, a visitor with Mr and Mrs George P. Marrot, and her daughter, Mrs H. A. Eichholtz. Her hostesses as well as many of their friends and friends of Mrs Ball at the time when Indianopolis was her home, have entertained her at delightful parties, some of them of course small informal parties, but quite a number having been among the large entertainments of the pre-Lenten season. Of far more interest than parties in the home of Mrs Eichholtz are her three attractive sons—Indianopolis Sunday Star, March 19th.

THE BOY YOU RAISED.

You didn't raise your boy to be a soldier,
Nor yet to shoot another mother's son;
But, God forbid that he should stand by idly,
And see his mother slaughtered by the Hun.

You didn't raise your boy to be a soldier,
You taught him not to use the deadly gun;
Yet you'd rather he had died when just a baby,
Than grow up far to proud to shoot the Hun.

You didn't raise your boy to be a soldier,
Nor did you think he would be one;
Thank God his veins with British blood are running,
And he has gone to slay the tyrannizing Hun.

You didn't raise your boy to be a soldier,
But he has proved a true, brave British son,
And should he die upon the field of battle,
You'll be proud to know he helped when victory's won.

Be proud you've raised a boy who is a soldier,
Defending now the honor of his race,
And should he fall whilst nobly thus defending,
In heaven he'll fill highly place.

Greater Love Hath No Man Than This

Interesting Letter Received from Sergt. Arthur Willson in which he tells of how Sergt. Cockerill made the Supreme Sacrifice for His Country.

Feb. 23rd 1916,

The Editor,
Strathmore Standard,
Strathmore, Alberta,

Dear Sir,

It is with feelings of the greatest regret that I have to acquaint you with the melancholy news that Sergt. J. Cockerill has given his life for the country he loved so well. This is the first time I have troubled you with any letters of mine, but the fact that Sergt. Cockerill and myself had many friends in common in your town gave me the feeling that it was up to me to drop you a line.

He joined the "Guides" in Calgary together with the rest of us, when war was declared, and at Valcartier when the "Guides" were disbanded, he went to the R.C.D. with Dempster and several others. They kept this regiment in England for some time after the 1st Contingent came out and he was very sore, as he was so keen to really come to close terms with the "Boche."

When I heard that the R.C.D. had arrived, I went to see him at once, as I had just come through the Battle of Ypres and wanted to see a friend, and he and I had always been "chummy." I found him and he was bursting to get into the trenches and do something. His wish was fulfilled very soon and for 3 or 4 months he was taking his turn in the Empire's Front Line. He was a "troop Scout" and was over so happy as when he was doing out some scheme to annoy the Hun. At last one of his ideas went to headquarters and he was sent for and kept there, doing valuable work and making himself liked by all he came in contact with from the officers to the orderlies.

During this time, I saw quite a lot of him, as my work allows me to move around the country and I would never hit the town without dropping in for a chat. He was never too busy to welcome a friend and usually had some news, sometimes he had the Strathmore paper, and we would both smile at some item of news, and wish the war were over, and we were back at the C.P.I.D.

Strangely enough I had paid him a visit the day before he was killed, and he had a stroll round the little town till late in the afternoon, when I had to get back on duty.

He was in his usual cheerful state and we had a merry time.

Two days after the Sergt. Major sent for me and said he had had a wire, asking for me to attend Sergt. Cockerill's funeral.

You can understand that I was considerably upset at the news, even though I am used to seeing men going "West." I went at once to Headquarters and there learnt the sad details.

Whilst he was watching the evolutions of some enemy aeroplane over head, one of them had dropped a bomb almost at his feet, and he was killed practically instantaneously.

As he was his oldest friend around this part I acted as a bearer, and his funeral procession certainly showed how he had endeared himself to all. Canon Armond with Captain M. A. Greer headed the procession and over fifty Sergeants followed.

As I marched in that downcast thought, I could not help thinking of the good times we had had together and how little we had thought two days ago that one of us was to be ordered up aloft.

At the graveside the cortege was met by Col. Mitchell and Capt. Pier of Headquarters. The service was conducted by Canon Armond and Capt. McGreer, and very seldom have I been so touched, as I was by their simple words.

It seemed so unreal. That plain dead coffin covered with the Union Jack and crowned with a plain laurel cross, was the last I should see of my friend, whom for months I had worked with and played with in Canada.

When the Chaplains had said their final word, there was a perceptible pause and then from every throat came the National Anthem.

Cockerill was intensely loyal and if he was near us in the spirit, I am sure he would be pleased to hear his favorite anthem, "God Save our King". At the end of this the officers stepped up and saluted the corpse and the simple ceremony was over.

And so we left him, coming away silent and morose, but with a deeper hatred of the Germans and a greater desire to follow his high ideals.

Some more friends and myself are putting up a cross to mark the spot where one of the first and most manly sons of England is resting after his labors.

I guess nearly everybody in Strathmore has forgotten me, but there may be one or two who may remember me.

I should be pleased to hear from anybody who has the time and inclination to write.

Apologizing for the length of this epistle,

Believe me,

Yours sincerely,

BUY AN IRRIGATED FARM

FROM THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

BECAUSE—
Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall, and insures good crops, not only annually, but EVERY YEAR.
Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the most fertile of feeders, which insures best returns in dairying and mixed farming.
Irrigation insures intensive farming and close settlement, with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community.
Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, the year 1914 having absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.
You can buy irrigated land from the Canadian Pacific Railway at prices ranging from $20 to $25 per acre, with twenty years to pay and the privilege of a loan of $200 for improvements (6 per cent interest) on principal payment at the end of first or second years and no water rental for first year. Assistance is also given in supplying stock in approved quantities.
This is the most liberal offer of irrigated farm land on record. Get full particulars from

The above is a statement of the subscriptions to date to the CANADIAN PATRIOTIC FUND. It will be noticed that the merchants and citizens of our town have already given very generously and are willing and anxious to give more but we feel that the farmers do not wish to leave the duty of subscribing to such a worthy object, to others, and we believe that, as in other districts, they will respond liberally. If there is any class of people who have gained by the war - if such a term should be used - it is the farmers, and while we agree that a successful prosperity were due these farmers, it is not the farmers who are facing the most threatening time in their history. It is not only right, but it is the duty of every farmer to "Do His Bit" for the cause of Empire and Home. We cannot all wear khaki. Those who stay at home however, are asked to contribute in order that the soldiers' wives and children can be properly maintained while the bread winners are fighting in the defence of our nation. Briefly, the fund is to supplement the Government's separation allowance, which is the same to the wife of the rich and the poor. Hence the Patriotic Fund, acting with discrimination, considering the special circumstances of each case, brings each family's income to a reasonable limit of subsistence. Contributions from the country can be handed in to the Patriotic Office or forwarded to the secretary, Mr. W. E. Brown. Such subscriptions may be made in a lump sum or by monthly instalments. A list of contributions will be acknowledged from time to time in the Standard. This will constitute the Roll of Honor of those who PAY because they cannot FIGHT.

With a Local Flavor

Miss Horstman, of the Public School staff, has been ill a few days this week.

Mr. A. L. Clemens, of High River, was a visitor to Strathmore on Tuesday and was receiving old acquaintances. Incidentally he came to the country. We hope he received as good a welcome.

Spring weather has prevailed during the past week, and quite a number of the farmers have been working on their land, hence on Friday night a snowstorm raged and a fall of about four inches ensued. By noon of the next day it was disapparing rapidly and while it will put a stop to farming operations for a few days yet the amount of moisture thus conserved will be of wonderful value in starting the new crop. Never has a Spring opened up more promising in this district.

Irrigation Staff Convene

The Third Annual Convention of the Western Section of the Irrigation Staff was held in Strathmore during the week of March 13th.

The first sessions were opened at 10 o'clock on Tuesday March 14th, with an address by Mr. R. Stockton, who laid before the meeting assembled some of the fundamentals with regard to the policies of the Company, laying particular stress on the duties of watermasters and ditchriders in regard to delivering water and making a full and complete record of everything in that connection. The matter of co-operation with Mr. Don H. Bark and staff in their educational campaign for irrigation and alfalfa growing was emphasized as a very important matter. The progress of irrigation was briefly mentioned, with special regard to the things that had occurred to strengthen the Company's position.

Mr. F. H. Peters, Commissioner of Irrigation for the Department of the Interior was introduced and made a short talk on the work of his Department.

Mr. A. S. Dawson, Chief Engineer, also spoke briefly on various matters of interest to the staff, and gave a very complete outline of the Department of Natural Resources. A few remarks were also made by Mr. W. H. Seaton of the Irrigation Branch of the Department of the Interior.

Mr. F. D. McNaughton, Superintendent for the Eastern Section, and Mr. E. Thornton of the Land Branch, also spoke.

At the afternoon session, Mr. A. S. Dawson, Chief Engineer, gave a paper on the irrigation development in the Western States, which was particularly interesting and instructive, as it covered a wide range of country in a considerable portion of which conditions are rather analogous to those which obtain here. This was followed by a talk by Mr. E. Thornton of the Land Branch, in regard to the organization and method of getting settlers for the Company's unused land. Mr. Thornton gave a number of statistics in regard to the cost of the work through the various advertising and other agencies and concluded with the statement that a buyer who was actually brought to Canada from the States and settled on the land had cost the Company about $100,000. Mr. N. S. Reskin, Publicity Agent, afterwards pointed out that this cost was too high, since all the costs were assessed against the settlers coming direct from the States, whereas many who were interested by the efforts of the Advertising Branch came to Canada and bought land independently of the Company and were not included in making up the average above referred to.

Mr. H. B. Muckleston, Division Engineer, gave a most interesting address on the great irrigation works of India and displayed a very thorough and comprehensive knowledge of the topography and conditions under which the great works in India were built.

Mr. F. D. McNaughton, Superintendent for the Eastern Section, gave a paper on the winter operation of canals, and in connection with this paper embodied the experience gained in running water through East Branch Main Canal to Lake Newell during the past winter and contained many points of value to the local staff.

Mr. E. N. Ridley, Canal Superintendent, gave a paper on timber and earth work construction in the Strathmore District, which contained valuable cost data in regard to this work.

An evening session was held during which Mr. G. H. Patrick, Canal Superintendent, gave a paper on concrete construction, containing general description of concrete work and followed by a nicely arranged and complete cost statement for Drop No. 1, Main Canal, which was constructed during the past season.

On Wednesday, March 15th, the meeting was called to order at 9 a.m., and each watermaster was asked to give a statement showing the general progress of irrigation and alfalfa growing as well as the progress, settlement, farming and stock raising in his district, and where farming had been carried on at the Watermasters' headquarters a brief statement in regard to that was also included. Most of the Watermasters gave instructive and interesting talks on conditions in their districts, and their remarks helped to make clear the real attitude of the farmers toward the Company at the present time. The consensus of opinion was that the atmosphere had cleared considerably during the last year.

Mr. Norman S. Rouken, General Publicity Agent, gave an interesting address on the publicity work of the Department of Natural Resources and brought out a good many points of interest to all those present particularly as to costs and methods of advertising, with the results that were obtained.

At the afternoon session the telephone system was taken up by Mr. Schulte, Telephone Inspector, who made a very good talk, explaining simply the uses of the telephone system and some of the important matters to be observed in getting the best results from the telephone system.

Mr. S. E. Durant, Watermaster, gave a paper reviewing local agriculture, this covered the matter in a way to suit the tastes of all present, and that have to do with the failure and success of our farmers.

Mr. D. H. Bark, asked for some time on his favorite subject of alfalfa growing and pasture grasses, although he was not without some interesting remarks at that time. He was given an opportunity to do so the next morning.

His personal presentation of certain most important points the staff was highly appreciated and will be valuable to this year's alfalfa campaign.

Mr. C. L. Dolge, Hydrographer, took up the matter of water measurements and records, covering this ground thoroughly and in a manner to bring home to the ditchriders and watermasters their duties and responsibilities in connection with reading the gauges and recording water deliveries in such a way that valuable records and statistics could be made.

In the evening, through the kindness of Mr. Rankin, a lantern lecture was delivered by Mr. H. Bark, which was well attended.

The next morning, Thursday, March 16th, the meeting was called to order at 9 o'clock and Mr. Bark finished up his talk on alfalfa.

Mr. A. D. Campbell, Assistant Superintendent, Agricultural and Animal Industry Branch, gave a talk on the work of the Agricultural and Animal Industry Branch, and in connection with this he discussed the Demonstration Farm. He was listened to with attention and great respect, and his talk was well done to go into these matters more fully.

Mr. W. H. Seaton, who is expected will have charge of the Dept. of Water Investigations at the Strathmore plant, gave a further talk, explaining more in detail the scope of the work proposed by the Government.

Mr. Don H. Bark, Chief of Irrigation Investigations, next took up the subject of methods of irrigation, which he discussed at some length, and some very valuable information was placed before the staff.

Mr. A. S. Dawson, Chief Engineer, gave a short address very kindly commending the program and conduct of the convention, after which the session was closed so as to allow men to reach their homes or take the train that afternoon. About sixty members of the staff attended the sessions of the convention.
